CARALLON DVI PARROT

"...just a priceless, simple thing."

The Carallon DVI Parrot is a new accessory for the video professional who needs configurable Extended Display Identification Data (EDID) management. Connected inline between any media server and display device, it correctly sets up the graphics card by mimicking a monitor and allows desired resolutions to be configured via USB using Windows or Macintosh software. "The DVI Parrot is a super high-quality, easy-to-use box that prevents 'display misunderstandings' with media servers," says one of the judges. "From keeping the suddenly screwed-up projector from going to the windows screen, to mediating monitor settings back to the servers, and keeping them from freaking, it's just a priceless, simple thing."
